Marx in a New Way – Marx’s Writings being Published in Progress Publishers Formats

By Karl Marx, and Soviet Union

I. Capital or Das Kapital

There is commodities, and commodity-form which then appears with an essence called labour also in the aggregate – so we are not people who are individual alone there is also a complex social labour which then is national labour and global labour and cycles of working class protests in trade unions for wages and wage-repression then is the crisis which checks itself with companies profits.

II. The empirical story is not the correct picture and the real phenomenology is not the real process – it is actually about labour and their struggles

In fact the way companies work and way EU works or even American institutions work is just the empirical process – it works more like Marx we argue and its economics is just the process of in fact following the crisis as in fact based on exchange-dynamics as opposed to use-value structuralism which then checks with historical theories of perhaps even Fordism and such formalisms. That is all.
